hello@greenstore.com

Dear Greenstore team,

I was thrilled when I found your pharmacy technician job listing in The New York Times. I am currently seeking employment in the field and I strongly believe I possess all the necessary qualities that Greenstore is looking for in a technician. I trust that my extended experience, references and communication skills all recommend me for the position.

I have been working as a pharmacy technician for the past 9 years at two of New York's most common drugstores. At the moment, I have been at the latter drugstore for 5 years without any issues, but I feel that a change of employer will allow me to further develop my professional skills. It is my firm belief that the background I have gained throughout the last years will allow me to blend into the respectable environment at Greenstore's without a problem, and even contribute to the company's excellent services with my know-how.

From my experience, I believe that the customer service a pharmacy provides sets it apart from competitors. Greenstore is well-known as being a top local drugstore from this point of view, and I know that the years I have in the industry will aid in boosting the quality of services even further. At my former employers, I was multiply awarded employee of the month, with positive feedback from superiors and customers alike. One of my most notable achievements was reaching triple our monthly sales goal, with a record of new returning customers.

You can find all the information related to my professional activity in the resume attached. I have also included three recommendation letters, but more can be supplied upon request. I am available for work starting April 1st, and would be honored to become part of the Greenstore team. Please don't hesitate to contact me via e-mail or phone for any additional information.

Thank you for your consideration.

Respectfully,

Jake B. Wood
